This remarkable and historical picture shows Peter, king of Serbia, seated on an ox-drawn cart, on his way out of the country for which he fought so bravely. The vehicle used as a royal coach had been an ammunition wagon.

SNOWSTORMS DO NOT WORRY THE GERMANS

These German troops on the eastern front evidently do not mind a snowstorm, for they are enjoying their hot rations at a field kitchen. In the background are transport wagons.

RESCUERS OF MANY ARMENIANS

United States Consul and Mrs. Jesse B. Jackson in the parlor of the American consulate at Aleppo, Syria. The Armenians say that it was solely owing to the energetic action of Mr. Jackson, who adopted a strong attitude with the Turkish military authorities, that thousands of Armenian lives in Aleppo and in the surrounding regions were saved. Mrs. Jackson is a great favorite in the highest social circles in Aleppo. During the massacres of the Armenians, the rooms at the American consulate were packed with Christians. Mr. Jackson's home is in Paulding, O.

LEADER OF MONTENEGRINS

This is General Martinovich, the astute military leader of the Montenegrins who opposed the plan of surrendering to the Austrians and took command of the troops that sought to make their way to safety through Albania.

SMOKE FROM HIS CAPTOR

This six-year-old Serbian youngster, a prisoner in a German detention camp, is happy regardless of the fact that the whereabouts of his parents are unknown. His costume is a non-descript one, being made up of "sawed off" trousers and cast off apparel.

NEWS and GOSSIP OF WASHINGTON

President's Attempt to Put World Into Two Camps

WASHINGTON.—When it came time for the president to arrange for the customary dinners to the diplomatic corps this winter, Mr. Wilson and his social, military and diplomatic assistants found themselves up against a hard proposition, due to the European war. From the first it was evident that two dinners must be given, and so the president undertook to divide the diplomatic world of Washington into two camps, each of which would be harmonious.

First, he put in camp No. 1 the entente powers, and in camp No. 2 the central powers. So far, so good. Then, closing his ears to the whisperings of those who professed to know the sentiment of the neutral countries, Mr.

Wilson took the little blue-covered diplomatic book issued by the state department and placed in camp No. 1 the first neutral representative on the list. The next he put in the second camp, and alternating thus, he had the world divided into camps, with the United States standing between.

It was an ingenious though simple plan, and seemed to give assurance of peace at the festive board. But on second thought the chief executive gave it up and adopted another. The belligerent leaders of each camp were left as they were, but along with each of these groups the representatives of all the neutral countries were invited. So peace reigned anyhow, and the lucky neutrals had two dinners instead of one.

Little Incident in a Street Car in Washington

A FAT, wabby woman, overburdened with what you might literally call a game bag filled with trophies of the day's bargain hunt, entered a crowded car. No man showed symptoms of chivalry, and as a fat, wabby woman dangling at a strap makes a somewhat distressing show of herself, a young woman arose and gave up her seat.

This act of courtesy aroused no belated gallantry in the man passengers, each of whom read his paper or looked bluntly satisfied and uncaring, as, of course, he had a right to do if he wished.

After a bit a man boarded the car, saw the girl, cordially shook her free hand and said to her in the voice of one who owns the world and all there is in it:

"If you want to hear me speak here's your chance. Come up to the capitol with me now for luncheon. Mary will be there."

"Thank you, not this time, senator. We have a tea on hand for the afternoon. Try to look in on us—"

Our home men are not toadies, but there are always exceptions. And they happened to be in the car. Every newspaper lost its lure for the reader masked behind its pages. Every stolid passenger who had ignored the mere everyday woman who had given them an object lesson in unselfishness became simultaneously solicitous to place his share of the car at the disposal of the booming-toned senator and his friend.

Neither paid any attention, thanks be; and that was all there was to it except that—

It was only another proof of a now generally accepted fact—that young women who go out in the world to battle for right of way are acquiring a protective tenderness for all who are old and helpless—a protective tenderness which men are throwing aside, and which selfish, home-paupered women and girls never did have, and never will.

Foreign Lotteries Worrying Postal Authorities

INCREASE in the number of government lotteries abroad, as the war drags itself out, is forcing United States postal authorities to be especially watchful to prevent their advertisement in this country. The lotteries are given publicity in the United States in two ways, it is said at the post office department. Individual letters are written to American citizens in an effort to induce them to purchase tickets and news stories are circulated of fabulous sums won.

Letters soliciting clients, if they fall into the department's hands, never reach their destinations. Some get through the department if on the outside they do not present suspicious appearance. All the suspected letters are diverted and opened. With news stories the department does not find it so easy to deal. The solicitor's office of the department holds that any news story advertising a lottery must be barred from the mails. Under the department's ruling this means any story giving publicity to a lottery. It does not have to be a paid advertisement.

Many news stories of European lotteries have been printed recently, the department says, which approach closely a violation of the law. A story that mentions the name of a winner or winners of a lottery is held to be a distinct violation. A story, too, that might be expected to attract such attention to a lottery that readers would investigate is held to be a violation.

Most of the lotteries being carried on in Europe now are for war benefits. Hospitals, the wounded, soldiers' dependents and other war victims are aided.

Uncle Sam Looks After the Health of the Oyster

DESIROUS that more of the hundred million inhabitants of this country should realize their good fortune in living near the waters in which oysters grow better than anywhere else in the world, the federal government is doing all that it can to increase the consumption of this cheapest of animal foods.

For a generation the bureau of fisheries of the department of commerce has made a study of the oyster, and has revealed details of its life history that have made possible its propagation with increasing success, and to such an extent that its price has remained practically the same for 25 years. More recently the bureau of chemistry of the department of agriculture and the public health service of the treasury department have been co-operating in a sanitary survey of the oyster beds of the Atlantic coast, which has resulted in the closing of those found to be in any way polluted. The work of its various agencies has been so thorough that the government announces that oysters are more sanitary and better than ever before.

In the enforcement of sanitary regulations concerning oyster beds the federal government has, of course, been restricted to oysters entering interstate commerce, but by co-operation with various states the good effects of the federal work have been extended practically all over the country.

GIRLS! GIRLS! TRY IT, BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR

Make it Thick, Glossy, Wavy, Luxuriant and Remove Dandruff—Real Surprise for You.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any store and just try it. Adv.

Doing His Part

"Honestly, now, would you fight for your country if war broke out?"

"Well," answered the thoughtful man, "maybe I wouldn't fight, on account of gas bombs, liquid fire and things like that, but I would gladly sacrifice my business and work night and day to raise recruits."

QUIT MEAT IF KIDNEYS BOTH AND USE SALTS

Take a Glass of Salts Before Breakfast If Your Back Is Hurting or Bladder Is Irritated.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.—Adv.

Why He Was The...

"How do you happen to be in prison?"

"It is the result of an accident."

"You ran over someone with your auto?"

"No, ma'am; I fell over a chair and waked up the owner of the house."

FRUIT LAXATIVE FOR SICK CHILD

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach, liver and bowels.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs" that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleaning" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Adv.

Just a Suggestion.

"I'm still waiting for you to pay me that $5 you owe me, Dubson."

"Oh, don't let that worry you."

"That's what I'm trying to do, but I would feel greatly encouraged if you would let it worry you occasionally."

Being Up to Date.

"A little bird told me."

"Don't say that; say that you got it by wireless."
